At last group conscience, we had decided to not pursue our quest for online meetings because of what has been going on – we don't want to find a place and then have it shut right down. As a group, we decided to table it and hold off.

A couple of homegroup members including myself were able to find places that were willing to let us meet in person, but we have decided to put that on the back burner for now. We just want to do the responsible thing.

We are doing well, and HG members are doing what they need to do to keep the meeting happening.

I will be celebrating 2 years of clean time on December 18th at the Out of the Fog group!

All will be well!

Karl

Good Afternoon Family,

In from the Storm group continues to meet in person and on the Zoom platform. Our format is structured to have a speaker once a month and topic discussions.

Our meeting is going strong and growing in attendance. Just last week we had 15 addicts IN PERSON. We have been reading out of the Living Clean book this past month and it has stimulated great discussion and sharing, often times by newer members.

The YANA Center has been a great location for us, and we are hopeful that we will continue to attract new folks to us.

In loving service,
Josh

We are still holding our hybrid Zoom/in person meetings.

The location for the physical meetings is at a member's house and closed to the general public.

We have been using the new microphone with good success. Attendees on Zoom can hear the people in the in-person meeting much better.

We were scheduled to meet in person at the Congregational Church in the Manchester Village a week and a half ago, but the church closed its doors again the day before our meeting. This was due to the new spike in COVID cases.

We still have the option to meet at the Baptist Church in Manchester Center and will be voting on that soon.

In loving service,
Tim C.

Hi Everyone,

There has been talk – the church we normally meet at in person reached out to a fellow homegroup member and upped the allowance of groups that are allowed to meet there to 15 people.

We had a group conscience last week and we talked about it. Things seemed like they were headed in the direction of going hybrid but another homegroup member went to the church and determined that the Wi-Fi connection would be the thing that will hold us back. The Wi-Fi was great on the top part of the church but as soon as we stepped down into the basement part of the church where we usually meet, it cut out completely.

So, we are exercising other options at this point and tabled any changes to our meeting. We will be Zoom for the next month for sure. We are going to do some research and development and find a solution hopefully.

We will update you next month.

In loving service,

Bruce
